Carmel Valley Outlook

Vol. VIII, No. 8 10 Cents Carmel Valley, California March 5, 1969

SOMETHING NEW IN LEARNING ENVIRONMENT will be initiated Monday morning when primary students begin their classes in the new building just completed at the Tularcitos School. A group of students that will attend are shown with teachers Mrs. Barbara Wilson, and Miss Sally Witter. The soft carpeting will provide seating and desks will be similar to bed trays. Lighting is shadowless with 125-foot candle power over every foot of the room which has space for about 100 students. Wash basins and drinking fountains ring the walls which are of tack board so students can thumb tack their work.

Something entirely new for Tularcitos kindergarten students

Monday morning primary grades will attend classes in the new three classroom addition just completed at Tularcitos School.

An entirely new concept of learning will be inaugurated in this building designed by educators and administrative staff of the Carmel Unified School District.

Pupils will sit on a carpeted floor and use desks similar to bed trays. Wash basins and drinking fountains ring the walls. Tack board is used for the walls where students can thumb tack their work without harm to the surface.

NO DIVIDING WALLS

Classes will not be divided by walls in this design that includes a work and storage room with tinted glass for teachers and observers.

A fenced area outside the building will provide space for animal cages and planting. Restroom facilities are incorporated inside the building.

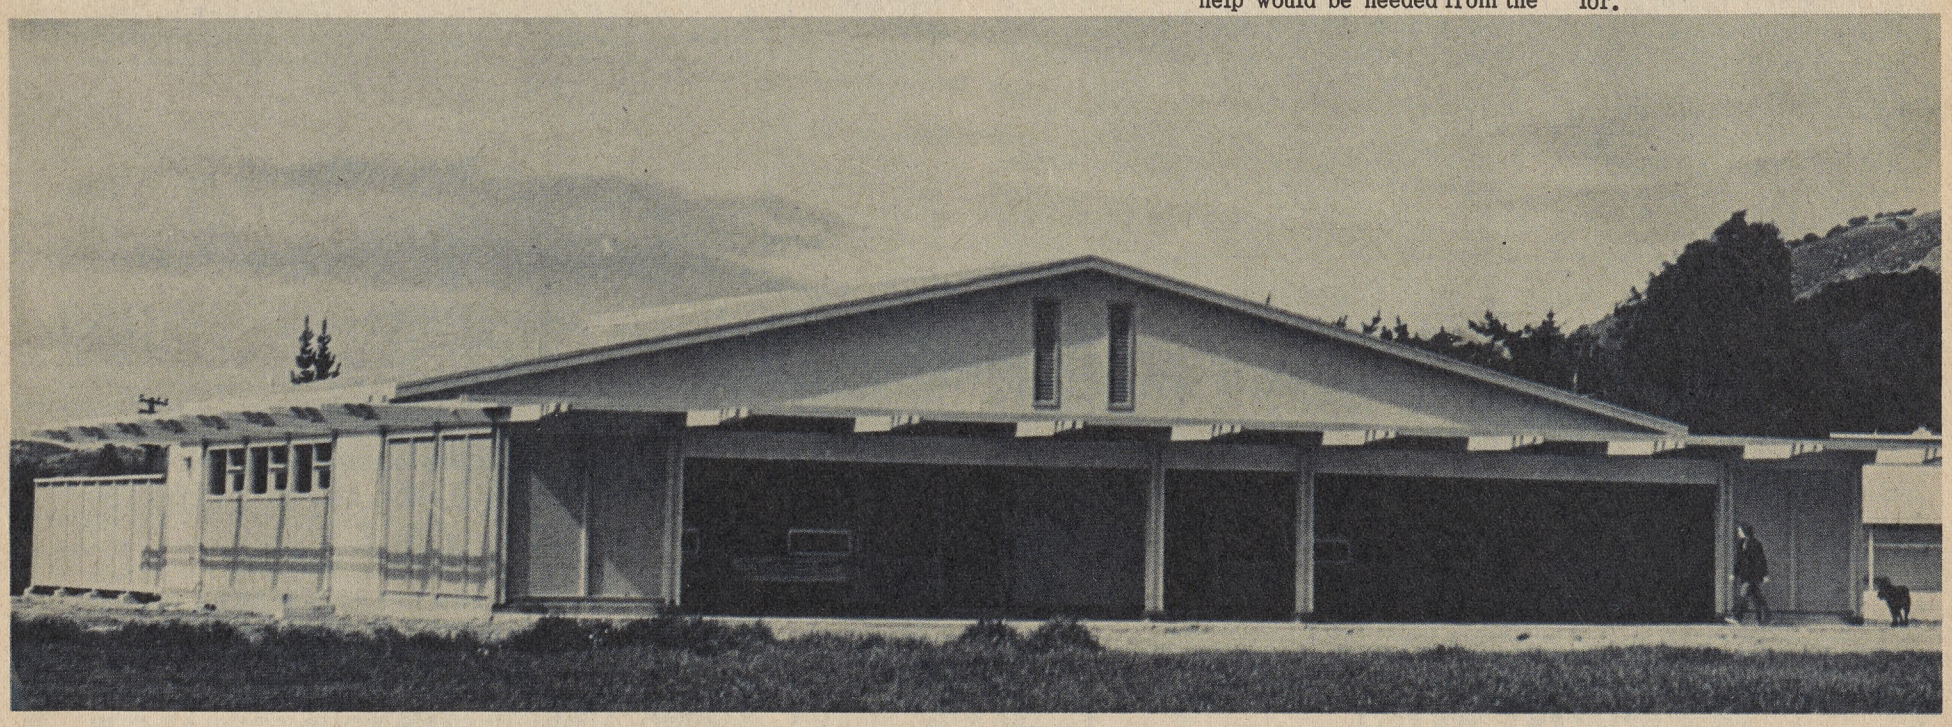
Trustees of the CUSD in a regular board meeting last week accepted the addition as complete, but the building fund is going to need a little help from undistributed reserve to meet the price.

COSTS

The actual construction cost of the addition was $85,378. Business Manager Walter Hinton said the estimated grand total for the building including architect's fees, building inspection, etc., will come to $99,668.44 while there is only $94,345 in the building fund.

He stated that it was expected from the beginning that help would be needed from the undistributed reserve. A recommendation for the transference of funds from this reserve to the building fund will be made at a future board meeting.

Representatives of the Educational Facilities Laboratory which is supported by the Ford Foundation toured the addition and were impressed too by the facilities and the low cost, according to Supt. Harris Taylor.



ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND this three classroom addition to the Tularcitos School was accepted as complete by the Carmel Unified School District at their regular meeting last week. There is no wall division in this new concept that has a fenced area outside the building for animal cages and planting. Eventually an extemplary model playground designed with new types of equipment will be added.

Carmel River is still gnawing away at the land...

DAMAGE to Carmel Valley Road, near Miramonte Road, is inspected this week by L.M. Orrett (left) traffic engineer, and Myron L. Jose, deputy road commissioner, of the Monterey County Road Department. Erosion and slippage have been critical; the Road will be open to one-way traffic eastbound (note car), at best, for months to come before the roadway can be rebuilt.

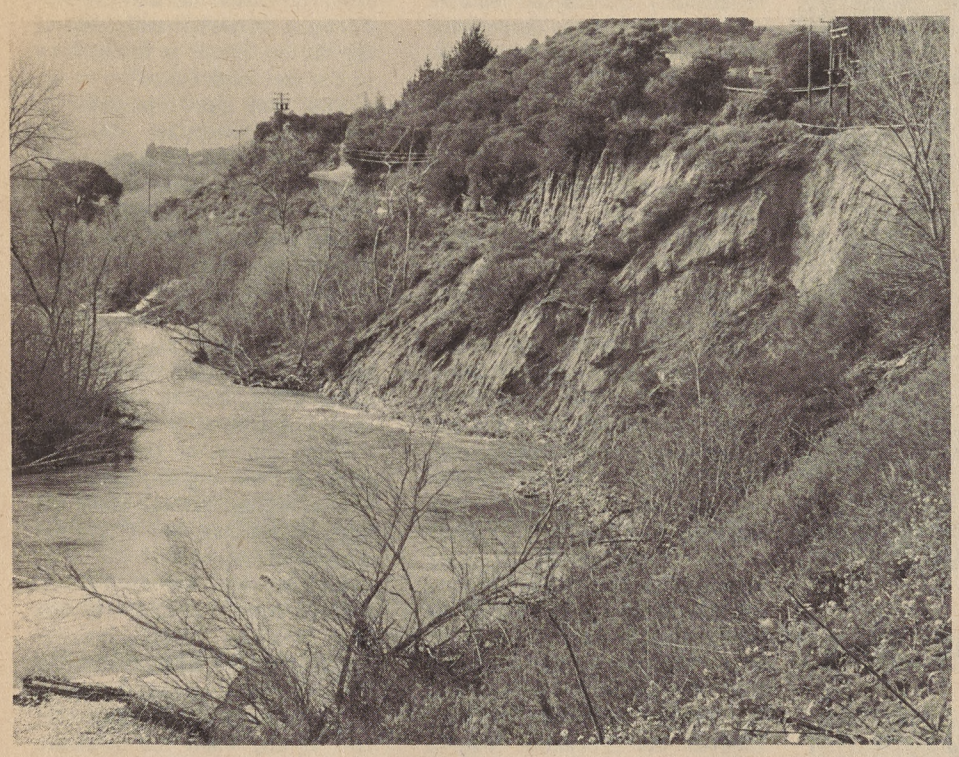
CLOSEUP of severe erosion near Farm Center. Heavy cables can be seen which are being used in effort to anchor soil and prevent further damage. Car bodies and tree trunks are also being used to hold back the rampaging Carmel River.



ANOTHER VIEW OF CARMEL RIVER, showing overall area where earth slippage has endangered Carmel Valley Road. Road engineers will have to decide whether to rebuild Carmel Valley Road on present right of way, or straighten and lower it to guarantee permanent and safe roadbed. In any event, rebuilding costs could run as much as a million dollars.

High winds bring drier weather

High winds toppled trees last week end, but it also started a drying out period for the soil as the sun shone brightly and a high of 61 degrees was recorded at the official weather bureau at the Carmel Valley Fire Station.

Clear skies Tuesday morning brought a low for the past week of 32 degrees with frost appearing on rooftops.

February rainfall totaled 8.64 inches, the second highest of the season. January broke all records with a 20.15 inch total. Rainfall for the week was 1.38 inches, bringing a total of 27.61 inches for the year, which officially begins with the weather bureau July 1.

The recorded rainfall for the week:

|---|---|
| Feb. | |
| 26 | .30 |
| 27 | .03 |
| 28 | .55 |
| Mar. | |
| 1 | .37 |

Total Rainfall last week, 1.38
Total Rainfall season, 27.61

THE ELEMENTS and fate have not been kind to many residents of Robles del Rio – particularly those who live on Buena Vista del Rio. These pictures taken earlier this week by Outlook Photographer George T.C. Smith tell the story better than words. And the following letter submitted by residents of that stricken road 'tells it the way it is'. Both pictures (above and below) show Buena Vista del Rio's stagnant pond, right smack on the road and flooding adjacent residences.

DEAR EDITOR AND DRY NEIGHBORS:

You say no one knows where their water and sewage is on the lodge side of Robles! In our yards!!! If you're not afraid of disease, come for a swim this weekend – we'll build a raft and barbeque on the lake. We must be fire free – sorry no fish!

Thought our friends and neighbors might be curious, since they haven't seen much of us in town lately. Car maintenance runs high this year, since ours aren't amphibious. If anyone wants to visit here – hurry, as the temporary road through our neighbors front yard is 1/2 flooded now.

The County put a lovely temporary road in; but drainage isn't covered for this old section. Too bad no one thought enough to include drainage in Robles in the good 'ole days. Do just a handful of property owners take the brunt of it???????

Program on drug use at Big Sur

The entire community is urged to attend a presentation on drug use, drug abuse and the resulting problems for the community and society. The program will begin promptly at 8 p.m. at the Big Sur Grange Hall, Friday evening, March 7.

The Co-ordinator of the Drug Information and Youth Crisis Center of Monterey County, will be present, along with a youth panel.

Three ambulance calls for week

Carmel Valley firemen responded to three accident calls during the week with the Red Cross ambulance.

Eric J. Wells, San Francisco, was injured in a motorcycle accident at 1:19 p.m. on Ford Road. He was given first aid and transported to the Community hospital with a fractured nose, lacerations, and concussion by the Red Cross ambulance.

Another accident occurred Monday at 2:05 a.m. when a car driven by Robert E. McDonald III, Aliso Road, went off the road about 45 feet west of Laurel Drive, hit a dirt pile, and was airborne for 45 feet before striking an oak tree.

He was transported to the Community hospital with serious injuries. The new car was completely totaled.

Joshua Hall, 16, Monterey, was given first aid for injuries from a fall from a horse while taking part in a horse show at the Sleepy Hollow Riding Club in Robinson Canyon Sunday.

He suffered a fractured left leg, and was transported to the Community hospital by ambulance.

The center is currently establishing branch centers, offering many helpful programs to the community. No charge of any kind is ever made for its services. The basic policy of the center and its personnel is: "to inform rather than to moralize and to counsel rather than criticize."

Baseball season opens this week for Padres

Athletic Director Monty Feekes, who doubles as head baseball coach at Carmel High, is looking forward to a promising year as the Padres open the 1969 season against the Alumni this Friday afternoon at four on the local diamond.

Four to five key games each month will be broadcast by KRSA-FM, 100.7 Mc., starting with this Friday's game, air time, 3:50 p.m.

The Carmel skipper is depending on strong-armed senior right-hander Lee Mark to handle most of the hurling chores, and will call frequently on sophomore Tom Boyd, juniors Jay Argust and Rod Gimble and senior Rusty Vandervort, all portsiders.

Feekes will be leaning heavily on the hitting abilities of senior first baseman Mitch Kastros, Argust, 3B, Vandervort, 2B, and junior center-fielder Brink Harrison.

This year the Padres should do much better than their fifth place MTAL finish last season, but Hollister appears to be the team that can win the championship.

Carmel has one of the finer high school baseball diamonds in the country, thanks to a progressive boosters club, which has made it possible for the local park to have "major league" accomodations, such as adequate seating for the fans, dugouts for the players, and an electric scoreboard.

"It doesn't cost anyone to watch our baseball team play, and we'll put on a good show for you", reminds Feekes.

One of the Carmel High Booster Club's more active members, Jim Kelsey, will be the player-manager for the Alumni Nine, consisting of many prominent names from the Padre past.

On the infield, it will be Packy Porter catching, Kelsey at first, Bob Upkike at second, Gene Ricketts at third, Gene Vandervort at shortstop, and two of the members of the outfield will be Jerry and Paul Artellan.

Bad luck hurts Carmel Cagers as season ends

BY HAROLD GANN

Sometimes, when the flu bug bites, it really takes its toll. This is the case of the Carmel Padre Basketball fortunes during the last week of the season.

Going up against the high-flying Santa Cruz Cardinals last Wednesday in an intra-league tilt at Cabrillo College to decide who would continue in the Central Coast Playoffs, Bruce Winkler, nursing the flu with a temperature reaching as high as 104, led the Padres to a 40 to 36 halftime lead.

The sensational center hit for 10 field goals of 12 attempts and six of seven free throws in the first half for 26 points and an uncanny shooting percentage.

However, midway through the third quarter, the Cardinals, with a front wall of Tom Foster, 6-7, and Chris Sorenson and Dave Paul, each 6-6, started to monopolize the boards as flu-plagued Winkler faded with fatigue.

Santa Cruz went on to win, 73-66.

Bruce was still by far high-point man with 39, but his best quarter is usually the third.

The following night, Winkler and crew coasted to a 69-35 romp over Junipero in a first-round game of the 22nd Annual Carmel High Invitational Tournament. But Friday night was a different story.

The convalescent Winkler sprained an ankle in the second quarter against a red-hot Monterey team, and although he came back early in the second half, Bruce was hobbling all the way, as Carmel at one time closed the Toreador lead to seven.

But, having won 11 of its last 12 games, Monterey was playing superior basketball to post a 76-62 upset victory. Earlier, with Wink at full strength, Carmel bested the 'Dores, 62-50, in the Seaside Tournament.

Winkler could not play at all in the battle for third spot in Carmel's final game of the tourney and the season, as Junior Pete Shaw (6-3) filled in with a promising 16 point performance, the Padres coming from behind to best Ceres, 73-63. Senior Chris Laiolo hit for 15.

Undoubtedly, had Winkler played the final game, he would have scored tournament high-point honors, having registered 61 points in two games. The Magnificent Wink of course made the all-tourney team, the only local performer to place.

It was 13 straight league victories this season, without defeat, for Coach Jason Harbert's charges, unquestionably, one of the finest teams in the history of Carmel High School.

The roof caved in prior to the Gonzales game. Winkler came down with the flu and only played 12 minutes. The week earlier Ross Smith broke a foot against King City and Steve Taylor wrenched a knee against Holy Cross. As a result, Gonzales pulled the upset of the season, beating Carmel, 42-41, in overtime, then the loss to Santa Cruz and to Monterey.

The injuries to Smith and Taylor hampered the Padres' chances in a big way....but the flu beseiging Winkler made the big difference in Carmel's stretch drive.

So, the local varsity basketballers post a 13 and 1 to win the Mission Trail Athletic League for the fifth time in the school's history, and register a 19 and five mark, overall. Not bad at all, when you consider that they were, except for the Gonzales game with three starters out, beaten only by teams from larger leagues, such as the MBL, and from the San Francisco Bay area.

Skip Marquard to head Valley fund drive

Skip Marquard will head the Red Cross fund drive for Carmel Valley, it was announced by campaign headquarters this week.

Jack Martin is the over-all chairman of the drive for members and funds of the Monterey Peninsula.

"It is just about $2,500 more than we raised last year and with a lot of good help I think we can do it," he said. "The people in Carmel Valley appreciate the Red Cross ambulance as they should. They give credit to the wonderful group of volunteer firemen who operate it, and they deserve the gratitude of the entire community – but there are other services the Valley residents benefit from that seem to escape the notice of many, he continued.

"Only the families with men in the armed forces who have experienced a problem when the Red Cross and only the Red Cross can assist, fully understand the importance of the service to the military and their families," Martin said.

"Verifying the need for the immediate return of a serviceman from overseas, or locating a man who has been wounded and moved from hospital to hospital, these and other services are available and have been used by many Valley families."

Among the services listed by the Red Cross are the training in First Aid to the ambulance volunteers, and water safety instruction.

The blood program is also sponsored by the Red Cross.

IN FULL SWING, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Tavares instructed the group in the San Marita, a native Portuguese dance, at a dance and family party given by the Carmel Valley Community Youth group Saturday evening. The Community Center was filled to capacity for an evening of dancing to a three-piece band. The Portuguese theme was carried out during the evening with the Tavares' famous Linguicia on French roll a feature of the cuisine.

PG&E gas employees win safety awards

Gas Department employees of Pacific Gas and Electric Company's Coast Valleys Division have won a double-header – two safety awards for having no lost-time accidents for more than 4-1/2 years.

E. Howard Fisher, PG&E vice president – gas operations and member of the company's Central Safety Advisory Committee, made the awards presentation to Leigh H. Smith, division manager, and Eddington E. Hyde, division gas superintendent.

One citation was a PG&E million manhour accident prevention award and the other was the American Gas Association million manhour safety merit award. The 99 PG&E employees whose safety achievements were recognized work in Monterey and San Benito counties.

Fisher commended the employees for their long-time interest and effort in serving customers safely.

Al Giordano named editorial advisor

Dr. Al Giordano of Carmel Valley, a business instructor at Monterey Peninsula College, has been appointed an editorial advisor to the publishing firm of Prentice-Hall, Inc., on a retainer basis.

Himself an author of a two-volume textbook, "Business Machine Calculation," which is used by many junior colleges (including MPC), Dr. Giordano's assignment for Prentice-Hall will involve "finding authors in the office and secretarial fields and consulting with them on possible publication of their manuscripts."

He will be particularly interested in writers working on textbooks at the junior college level, he said.

Prentice-Hall will soon publish a one-volume edition of Giordano's "Business Machine Calculation," and he is currently at work on another text, "Business Mathematics."

3 Carmel High Students Win Bank Awards

Twelve seniors at Carmel High School have been honored in the annual Bank of America Achievement Awards program, Principal Arthur Gumbrell announced last week.

Three students were awarded plaques for their outstanding achievements in a general field of study, and will have the opportunity of competing with top students from other schools for cash awards ranging up to $1000.

The plaque winners and the study fields in which they were chosen are:

Nicolette Hariri, fine arts.

Fatiana Granoff, liberal arts.

Ramon Sharey, vocational arts.

Nine other students were cited for their superior performance in specific fields of study and will receive certificates of merit. They are: Tony Tersol, mathematics; Tim McCarthy, laboratory science; Ann Houston, English; Jim Bennett, social studies; Douglass Forbes, foreign language; Kitty Hendrix, drama; Jim Rutledge, music; Melissa Williams, art; and Sherry Chapman, business.

Selection of the certificate and plaque winners was made by the school faculty. Factors taken into consideration include scholastic attainment, sense of civic responsibility and evidence of leadership.

The records of the plaque winners will be forwarded to a screening committee, which will then select students from area high schools to appear in the zone event. Zone competition will be held April 10 in Salinas this year.

At the zone event, a panel of distinguished civic, business and professional leaders will interview the students. Winners will be chosen on the basis of scholastic records, extracurricular activities, and the interviews.

The top four winners in the zone event will then advance to the highest phase of the competition – the area finals – where they will contend for cash awards ranging from $150 to $1000.

Second and third place winners in each study field at the zone event will receive $50 and $25 awards, respectively.

Upper CV Planning Board to consider Use Permits

The Upper Carmel Valley Advisory Committee will meet Friday morning to consider two use permits and a variance.

Irene Baldwin has applied for design approval for the construction of a residential unit and parking facilities behind her Realty office.

A Use Permit will be up for approval for the division of 130.67 acres into three pan handle lots in Los Tularcitos Rancho by the applicant, Ann Bletzer.

A Variance is asked by H. Ocker for reduction in front yard set back in order to build a green house on Paso Cresta.

Many county wells bear contamination

Many domestic wells in Monterey County have been contaminated and should not be used for domestic purposes until they have been purified by boiling or chlorinating, according to a bulletin issued by Dr. Richard S. Fraser, director of Public Health for Monterey.

Recent heavy rains and flooding conditions have caused the wells to be contaminated.

Information on ways to properly disinfect your water system may be obtained by calling the Monterey County Health Department office at 424-7626.

So who wants to be perfect...

We hate to admit it, but we make mistakes.

Not gigantic ones, but the kind that annoy people. They annoy us too.

We make mistakes in dates, spelling of names and places and even just ordinary words.

Some people may not believe it, but we go to great lengths not to make ANY mistakes.

There are occasional weeks when we believe we have it down to one or two; there are other weeks that we would like to forget.

The nice thing about printing a newspaper is that the mistakes are there for all time to come. Of course we can correct them the next week, but that is, let's face it, a little late.

And the harm can't be undone that easy.

The peskiest mistakes are typographical errors. These creep in no matter what. It's just a case of having to do everything in a hurry.

That's the story at every newspaper, big or little.

We don't like to point out the errors of others, since we are so imperfect ourselves.

But just to show you how busy the gremlins can be, we offer you a sample from another paper. We won't mention its name, but as a clue, it is published every morning in San Francisco.

We will have to admit that the next time you put down your local weekly, remember what you read (or tried to read) in one of California's major metropolitan dailies.

The following appeared on page 8 of their last Thursday's issue, under the headline "Schlesinger Says Nixon 'Floundering'." Sounds like an interesting story, and the first paragraph is letter-perfect and makes sense.

But we warn you, after that the roof caves in. And you may be like some others who felt that 'floundering' applies less to Nixon than to the typesetting machine.

Maybe 'catastrophe' would be more like it.

So hold on, get a firm grip on your eyepiece, and have a go at the following (reproduced "as it was" by the miracle of offset printing):

Washington

Former presidential adviser Arthur Schlesinger Jr. said yesterday that President Nixon had been "floundering around" thus far and was becoming "an almost invisible president."

"No new President in memory has made so little effort in his fest weeks inmffice to define his purposes," said Schlesinger, national vice chairnmf Americans for Democratic Action.

TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

Open letter to our various representatives who are to encourage or discourage proposals by county level governing bodies.

Dear Sirs:

County supervisors, planners, advisory departments and river-bottom dwellers amongst your constituents are now pressuring you for tax payers' money to pay for flood damages and a possible third dam in Carmel Valley. The last, a supposed solution to stop floods.

However, most of us hill-dwellers believe that we outnumber by far the above group and urge you not to yield to the SEEMING obvious in arguments designed to sway your judgement THEIR way.

In contrast, OUR arguments are entirely based on the recognition that the ecology, soil conservation principles, the esthetic aspects of the Carmel Valley and common sense were once and for all given primary importance when we defined our intent in the Master Plan to preserve what we prized in our area.

The following examples aim to clarify once more our determined stand in these matters. We fully expect, and insist, that our chosen representatives shall at all times be truly representative of the majority group.

EXAMPLE 1. NATURE TO BLAME?

If a man decides to build on river bottom land and nature in its flooding destroys or damages his home or business, it SEEMS obvious to him that nature is to blame. It might seem obvious to you that he deserves aid by a benevolent government through the pocketbook of the hill-dweller.

However, if common sense should have prompted anyone tempted to build on land subject to flooding to ask any oldtimer to please point out to what height he remembers from past 50 years flood waters had come, such oldtimer gladly would mark on the nearest tree trunk six or more feet. He would also have shown the newcomer the past years debris caught by tree branches at such elevations.

If the newcomer still would have insisted on building his river-bottom dream house, he next should have looked for other similar situations (for example, old-time Sacramento houses with flood basements) and meet nature on its own terms. Or should have built a few feet above highest flood level and left his surroundings unmolested.

EXAMPLE 2. TAMPERING WITH THE RIVER.

If river-frontage dwellers and business enterprises on river-bottom level get flooded the first time, self-protection measures are now begun by them. Now the river bed is locally deepened, bull-dozed this way and that, surrounding vegetation and land are rearranged. Next flood conditions now make the water seek the deepest channel at 10 times its former speed, tearing into banks, undermining bordering trees (if any have been left standing), next piling these trees against down-stream bridges, eroding a molested terrain ---- and once more it seems obvious to him that nature is at fault. You may possibly think likewise and believe that a benevolent government should bail out these mistake-makers.

EXAMPLE 3. A THIRD DAM, THE SUPPOSED CURE-ALL.

We all know that, once a reservoir is full, every drop added by next rains will spill over the dam. That thus any dam that is to act as storage dam for water-use later, will not stop floods after the reservoir has been filled.

A third dam will only act as a buffer against floods if it will at all times REMAIN EMPTY BETWEEN RAINS. It is only allowed to fill up DURING rains, to be immediately emptied again (from its bottom gates) after the rain stops.

If, therefore, a third dam is urged by the mistake-makers and people with land to sell, it must be suspected that other reasons prompt land-owner-developers, speculators, and all profit seekers to be so anxious for this proposal. Could it be, that now is the propitious time (during peak anxiety in a worsened situation) to propose a third dam? Is this dam meant to create increased water supplies for over-population as they plan for future use? Should these same greed-prompted activists succeed in breaking down our one acre limit Master Plan, they would indeed open a people-flood instead.

In conclusion I would like to call your attention to the logic that no one feels obliged to pay for the mistakes made by others. Should a flood control dam be decided upon, the mistake makers ought to foot the entire bill. And let it be decided irrevocably that a flood control dam shall not be used for the storage of water not needed by a limited population as envisioned by the one acre limit.

Please remember that it was the peace and Carmel Valley pastorale character that most of us sought and found here to establish our homes. The Carmel River aspect, as yet unspoiled a fairly short time ago, is now half way destroyed. We would like to recognize in your actions a forthright desire to protect what has remained of the previous character of Carmel Valley.

Any measures sanctioned by you that tend to further spoil this area, be it through over-population, cemented river banks, indiscriminate slashing of hill sides, industrialization and the endless mistakes that result when man yields to the SEEMING obvious; those measures would then make you a party to future abominations.

Sincerely,
Alexander G. Weygers

Dear Editor:

For many years the members of the C.V.P.O.A. have asked for better representation on the Advisory Board to the Planning Commission. There is a gross misrepresentation when the majority, 57% are business men with commercial interests, representing less than 15% of the people. The Advisory Board members are appointed not elected.

Something must be done to change this!! We MUST have equal and fair representation of residential property owners who are interested in the valley as a beautiful place to live and not for commercial gain.

I urge every interested property owner to attend the C.V.P.O.A. meeting tonight (Thursday) at the Community Center at 8 p.m.

The Rhyming Philosopher

SUFFICIENCY

Simply ridiculous, with income so low,
Just barely enough for the taxes and bread,
We're still buying walnuts and oatmeal to feed
The squirrels and chipmunks; and packets of seed
For linnets and sparrows. So can it be said
We're crazy? Yet hunger is something we know.

The chickadees must have their walnuts chopped fine,
And flash in and out of their own feeding box,
But ev'ry so often some bird has the guts
To try to make off with the squirrels' whole nuts;
Like humans at times in that strange paradox
Of quitting good sense for the sheer asinine.

Our bushy-tailed squirrels come down from the trees
To peer through the pane if by chance we forget
To furnish their quota of luxury fare
Like children expecting with confident stare
Their promised allowance; reminder of debt
We owe for the pleasure of friends such as these.

Our progeny left us for far foreign scenes,
But all the wild creatures stay home, thank the Lord,
While dogs and the cats help inhabit the place,
What more can one ask? We enjoy breathing space
Which never a millionaire could more afford
Or purchase more peace than our limited means.

MEADOWS CELEBRATE

With the Robert F. Meadows on Sage Road, February is just one celebration after another. On the third they could have been found at the Casa Carmela sharing champagne and anniversary cake with the other patrons as they celebrated their tenth wedding anniversary.

On Valentine's Day they enjoyed another dinner party at Lou's and this time shared Cookie's birthday cake with guests in the dining room. Cookie followed with special interest in the medical bulletins of heart transplant patient, Richard Newell. She has known Dick and his wife, Virginia for twenty years, and they will be remembered by many Valleyites as former Salinas residents who owned Max's Cafe.

WORK PARTY

A casualty of the storm was the huge ball covered with roses which has been suspended over the heads of the dancers who have attended each of the Wine and Roses Balls.

Last week, Mrs. Lloyd Todd and her committee were "up to here in roses" when they gathered for an all day work party at the Todd home on Aliso Road. All Lions' wives, the ladies brought sack lunches and spent the entire day remaking and repairing the damage suffered by the famous decorations in a leaky store room.

Assisting Ora were Mmes. William Stowers, Jack Black, Tom Bordonaro, Peter Glod and Leroy Dufur.

POPULAR SPEAKERS

In a community filled with talented residents, all specialists in their field, there is a constant demand for guest speakers.

Last week the Junipero High School Mothers' Club invited as their guest speaker, Capt. (USN ret.) Phillip H. Mothersill of Lupine Lane who is a family and marriage counselor; the Lionettes heard Sterling Mummert, noted conservationist of Holman Road; and the members of the American Association of Retired Persons at the New Monterey Neighborhood Center were addressed by Jacob Zarski. Mr. Zarski who formerly lived on Garzas Road, has won numerour awards as a horticulturist and spoke on "Armstrong's Wonderful World of Roses."

FOUR CANDLES

The sparkle of four candles on a heart shaped birthday cake were reflected in the eyes of an excited guest of honor, Betsy Keith, daughter of Mrs. Jack Keith of 15 Hitchcock Canyon.

A valentine motif prevailed for the members of the Nursery School set who were invited to enjoy games, birthday cake, and ice cream with Betsy. They were Sara Smith, Elizabeth Egli, Marcus Arana, David Sackman, Eric Doelman, and Christopher Gilcrest.

VISITOR PARTIED

Mrs. Anna Smith has returned to her home in St. Louis, Mo., after a month's visit with her niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bolgard. The weather has not deterred her hosts at all from an exhausting fun-filled round of sight-seeing.

In addition to her peninsula travels, their eastern guest enjoyed two days with them in San Francisco and a stay in Mountain View as a guest of the Bolgard's son, Roger and his family.

She was a guest of honor at a dessert-card party at the La Rancheria Road home of the Bolgards where a foursome of bridge and a foursome of canasta enjoyed an "Indoor Spring". Irma had bouquets of fragrant sweet peas about the room and the tables were centered with purple hyacinths for the lemon meringue pie served on cream colored place mats.

Attending were Mmes. Paul Edwards, Fred Clark, Thomas McKiernon, Joseph Blacow, Irving Ollason, and Elbert Wade.

A dinner party in her honor was given on Sunday evening at the La Rancheria home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blacow. Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Wade, Mrs. Fred Clark, and the Bolgards.

RAINY REVERIES....One of the cutest little girls in Carmel Valley, a five year old charmer with freckles on her nose, refers to the water cascading down every embankment as "Water-downs!"....There is NOTHING comparable to the dignified detachment of a handsome saddle horse with a rider astride, holding an opened umbrella!....Graem Harrison determined the storm had gotten completely out of hand when she happened upon a frog that had drowned in the gardens at the Carmel Valley Inn!....The C.V. landing strip may have only pontoon appeal for the majority of our flying populace, but it looked ideal to the four "crafts" who set down there last week. Four huge Canadian Honkers were spotted by the Talley family as they glided in for letter-perfect landings. Such preening, feeding, bathing, and drinking before their take-off was witnessed by the Talleys who are hoping they'll return once again to the "lake" on Lupin Lane....Anyone who has ever fought (and lost) a battle to a gopher is taking fiendish delight in watching the steady stream of water spurt from what appears to be a gopher hole under an oak tree along the Valley Road. One can almost visualize the destructive little beast down there frantically manning the bilge pumps!....Helen, Dr. Dean Campbell's girl Friday, is said to have commented during an early morning appointment about the unusual color of the sky, Dr. A.D.C., always at his solemn best at that hour replied, "I see nothing strange about the color, after all it's only BLUE!"....An "Old Oak Leaf Cluster" to the unsung heroes of the storm: To the Telephone, Road, and PG&E crews who work the clock around to hold our battered Valley together. In addition to retaining a pleasant attitude toward passersby that anyone that cold, wet, and exhausted must been far from feeling, they have done countless personal acts of kindness for storm struck Valleyites....A PG&E man walking up the hill in the rain after a nine hour power outage had been restored to check if "everything is all right" is only a minor example of beyond the call of duty....to the cavalcade made up of some fifty parents who transported Carmel High and Middle School students to a bus rendezvous at the Farm Center and called for them each day for two weeks until bus service was restored over the Miramonte detour....to the housewives who continue to head the mopup crew which is called upon each time rain saturated grain fields send water coursing BACK through the pipes into the house....to the Adolph Friedenthals and the San Brandts who retained their humor (not to mention their sanity!) when Fate pointed its warped finger at their homes. Up on Horizon Way, as if there was not enough moisture on the outside, while the Colonel and his lady were in San Francisco, a pipe broke in the Friedenthal home, causing monumental damage to the structure and all of the furnishings. Elizabeth and Adloph have been staying with the Stanley Crawfords on Chaparral Road until repairs are completed. Down on Ford Road, Lissa and Sam are flipping a coin to see which is worse: the fact that a wall of their home fell down or that it fell on their new car purchased the night before....The television newscasts of the flooding Salinas River and Valley slides brought a worried telephone call from Denver from Ginnie Brock's mother, checking on the family very dear to her in the parsonage at St. Dunstan's....Can't help but wonder how many days of rain the Valley is allowed before our symbol, a smiling Sol, is permanently reinvoked!

A THING OF BEAUTY

Ladies in attendance described St. Dunstan's Benefit Bridge and Canasta party last Wednesday as a "thing of beauty". Mrs. Thomas Christian and her co-hostess, Mrs. Philip Walker, entertained a group of 52 ladies at the Presidio Officer's Club.

Mrs. Christian and Mrs. Walker had borrowed the purple tones of the February birthstone, the amethyst, and the violet which is the flower of February to carry out their table prizes, tallies and nut cups, all of which nicely complimented the gold table cloths and napkins of the club.

Tiny baskets filled with violets topped with a flowered handkerchief of purple were presented to Mmes. Flo Holmes, Isabelle Townsend, Ruth Wade, Helen Walker, Paula Washington, Barbara Robbins, Alice Johnson, Peggy Etherton, Rosemary Clifford, Martha Sturgess, Jean DeHaas, Nathalie Compass and Ann Smith.

The high in bridge was won by Rosemary Clifford. Second award to Peggy Etherton. Canasta winners were Martha Sturgess and Jean DeHaas. Mrs. Karl Kunz will be hostess for the March 26 party. Ladies are asked to phone their reservations to Mrs. Walker, 659-2280.

A WONDERFUL TIME

Members of the Gray-Y's have been showing recently developed films of their exciting trip to Badger Pass. The Valley gang stayed at Wawona Lodge in the Sierra National Park. The Christmas card scenes with deer following a blizzard are really beautiful. Clothing drying around the stone fireplaces following tobogganning and boxes of food in each snap show the memorable week end enjoyed by all.

Making the trip were Phil Wright and Philip Jr., Mal Tavares and Dennis, George Zaramento and Bill and George, Tom Bordonaro and Tom, Jr., Harold Olsen and Ben, Robert Hebert and Ronnie, Douglas Sprague, Don McKenzie, Jr., John Mirani, Larry O'Campo, Danny Ascarate and Kelly Bowser.

SEASIDE SCOUTING PROJECT becomes reality – Rear Admiral Robert W. McNitt, Superintendent of the Naval Postgraduate School, and Frank Buck, District Scouting Executive, accept checks for $1,000.00 and $100.00 on behalf of Project Seaside from Kenneth A. Ehrman, Vice President of the Monterey Foundation, a charitable organization which contributed the $1,000.00 check. An anonymous donor contributed the check for $100.00. Monterey Foundation's contribution, along with donations from individuals and other civic organizations will finance Project Seaside, an expansion of Scouting activities for underprivileged boys in the CORE area of Seaside. Project Seaside now has approximately $8,000.00 in cash, another $7,000.00 in pledges, and a goal of $30,000.00. (U.S. Navy Photo)

Special school programs discussed by school board

EDUCATIONALLY HANDICAPPED PROGRAM

Children who have 'learning problems', and who therefore do not benefit fully from the normal classroom curriculum of school, find their interest rekindled when they participate in the program for the educationally handicapped.

As part of a report on the program given to the Board of Education last week by Dr. James Halcomb, assistant superintendent of instructional services, the three teachers outlined their techniques, their problems, and a slow but steady success story.

Elaine Sandberg, at River School, Shirley Taylor at Middle School, and Patrick Allen at Carmelo School, all emphasize the reward system to encourage their pupils to establish good behavior and learning habits, and use timely intervention, rather than punishment, to de-fuse potential trouble situations.

At this early stage of the program – this being the second year of operation – problems tend to be of an administrative nature: lack of classroom space and shortage of materials.

LEARNING PROBLEMS

District psychologist Tom Sandford explained the reasons why some children are unable to fit into the regular educational system, and the symptoms they display in the classroom.

The main categories he said, were: physical and maturational (visual and aural defects, growing eye tissue); motivational (bored by school); situational (frequent house moving, parents who are alcoholics); poor health; and an 'undefined' category where there is no apparent explanation for the child being behind.

These problems result in different reactions, from excessive destructiveness, shyness, and depression to poor muscle coordination, restlessness and perceptual and memory deficiencies.

Dr. Halcomb stated that the classes run conjointly with the regular school program, with the educational handicapped pupils participating as much as possible in the daily curriculum.

Current criticism of California's program by state educational investigators brought a frown from Dr. Halcomb, who felt that the ultimate objective of returning the pupil to full-time regular school attendance was essentially a long term goal, and that therefore the criticisms were premature.

EXPANSION NEEDED

The Education Code defines the term 'educationally handicapped minor' as a minor whose "learning problems are associated with a behavioral disorder or a neurological handicap, and who exhibits a significant discrepancy between ability and achievement".

Based on this definition, Dr. Halcomb said that there were many more children who could benefit by the program, and recommended the formation of two classes at Tularcitos, an additional one at Middle School, one at the High School, and the continuance of the River and Carmelo classes, bringing the number of participants up from the present 28 to 60.

This is the maximum number for which the district may receive reimbursement from the state, at the rate of $13,680 for each class.

TEACHER'S HOURS

In further business, Dr. Harris Taylor reported on the results of the suspension of a Board rule a year ago, dealing with the arrival and departure times for teachers.

The original rule, which specified arrival/departure times, was replaced by a broader instruction giving teachers "the professional responsibility" to fulfill adequately their assignments. Dr. Taylor said that the new rule was satisfactory, and that the few individuals among the district's 150 teachers who did abuse it were the same ones who ran into trouble with the original rule.

Dr. Hilton Bialek presided over the meeting in the absence of Steven Sassoon, who spent two days in Community Hospital for a minor neck injury received in a car accident.

The next meeting is scheduled for March 12.

BIRTHS

A daughter, Rosa Maria, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Francisco Villarrail of Carmel Valley, February 21, at the Community Hospital.

Young actors have sponsor

Children's Experimental Theatre, Inc., has announced its sponsorship of Children's Theatre, widely known on the Peninsula for its travelling dramatic productions made as a gift to public and private schools, since 1960.

The plays are performed by young actors from all communities on the Peninsula. The players are aged from nine to eighteen, and many enroll in Saturday classes, held at the Forest Theatre, when they are six years old.

The touring groups, under the directorship of Marcia Gambrell Hovick, bring their own stage and costumes to each of the many schools in which they perform. In 1966 the Junior League of the Monterey Peninsula sponsored its first touring group, known as "The Travelling Troupe."

Last year The Travelling Troupe presented 64 performances of "Beauty and the Beast" to 20,500 school children. Currently "The Two Brothers," an original play, is in the middle of its touring season, under League sponsorship.

THEATRE MOVES

Over a hundred youngsters are now enrolled in the Saturday and Monday afternoon dramatic sessions. The innovating Children's Theatre has now grown so large that is has moved its base of operations from the Golden Bough Circle Theatre to the Forest Theatre in Carmel.

With the assistance of Mr. Hal Seybold, Principal of Highlands School in Seaside, Mrs. Hovick, her staff and senior actors are now conducting an experimental after-school class for interested young people who would like to make their own plays, at Highlands.

Bake Sale on Saturday

To augment their Missionary Expedition Fund, "IKTHYS" – the high school age group of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, will hold a bake sale on Saturday, March 8th, at the Monte Mart store in Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

Proceeds will be added to the funds raised from a rummage sale to help finance the group's Easter week trip to Mexico, where they will set up a Bible School at an orphanage near Ensenada.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Harber, Mr. and Mrs. J. Warren Douglas and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Powers are assisting the young people.

Seaside, Gilroy, King City, Carmel Valley, Monterey, Marina and Pacific Grove!

Kindergarten in Carmel Valley is unique

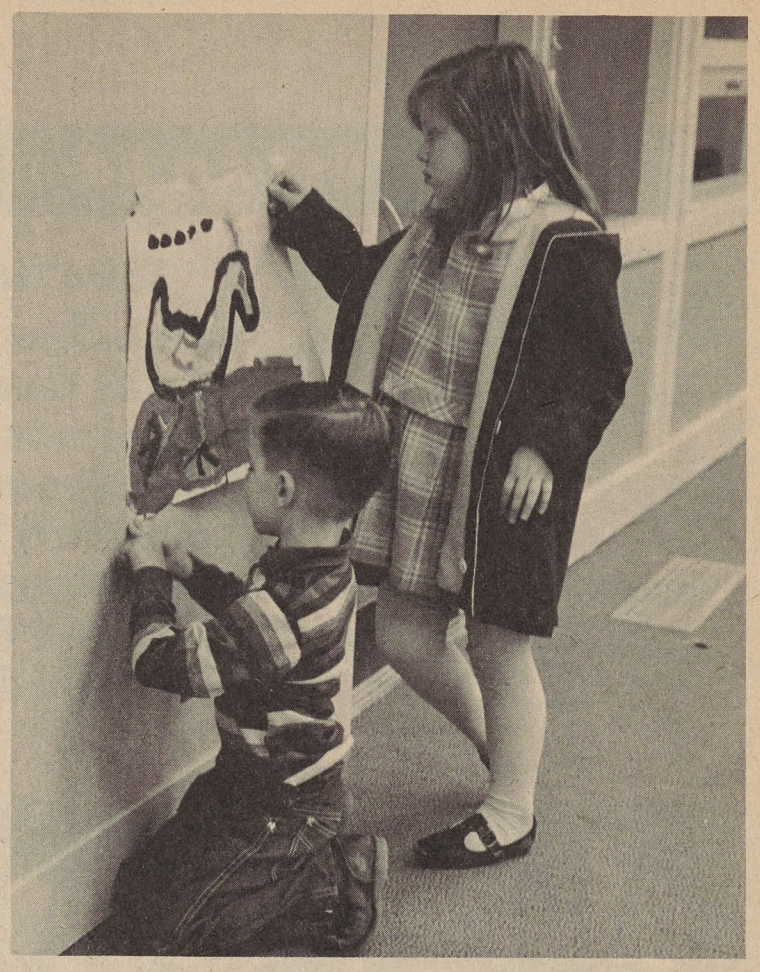
A TOUR OF INSPECTION of school board members, architects, builders, is made by Steven Sassoon, George Rhoda, Clayton Neill and Richard T. Whilsdon, school board members; Chet Phillips, architect; Walter Hinton, business manager of CUSD; George Gustafson, principal; Fred Keeble, architect; Arnold Voogt, foreman, and Ed Goodrick, transportation manager for district.



TACK BOARD is used on walls so study work can be thumb tacked down as demonstrated by Mike Colvin and Marcia Olsen.

VISITING THE NEW FACILITY are Dr. Harris Taylor, Superintendent of CUSD, Dan Yurkovich, assistant to Superintendent, and George Gustafson, principal of Tularcitos.

NO CHAIRS are used and small tray-like desks have not arrived as this kindergarten class sits on the floor. Teacher, Sally Witter is shown with students visiting new building.

Grunsky opposes drilling off Monterey Peninsula Coast

"Oil and gas extraction from the tidelands of Monterey and Santa Cruz Counties is not in the best interest of the citizens of California or the citizens of seaside communities on the Monterey Bay," said Senator Donald L. Grunsky (R-Central Coast Counties) last week.

If the Monterey Bay area is to be the oceanographic center of the West Coast, it is a far higher priority to preserve the natural ecology here than it would be to allow more exploration for and drilling of oil and gas.

"I have introduced a measure – Senate Bill 57 – into the State Legislature which would extend present prohibitions of offshore drilling to the Santa Cruz County coastline – carrying out the intent of the Monterey Peninsula Area Planning Commission."

A similar measure authored by Grunsky in 1963, now law, prohibits offshore drilling in Monterey County.

"Exploration for oil and gas falls under different provisions of the law than drilling," said Grunsky. "Permits are required from the State Lands Commission for dynamiting or core-sampling, but no permits are required for electronic and many other types of exploration.

A prime directive of the Lands Commission is to make available state lands for lease, for the eventual extraction of oil and gas. When geographical conditions exist that indicate oil, it is close to mandatory that it grant permits for exploration.

"The Commission makes its own decisions as to what will be explored, but with the disaster of the Santa Barbara oil slick still washing on the shores of the Santa Barbara Channel, much legislative influence is pressuring the Commission to make its decisions more carefully," said Grunsky.

"Since no drilling permits were issued prior to 1955 for oil and gas extraction from the Santa Cruz and Monterey County coastlines, passage of my bill would effectively place the Monterey Bay in a "sanctuary" status.

"I feel that the further development of Monterey Bay as a research center and the availability of ocean resources in the area as well as its timeless scenic value, must be left unspoiled."

Grunsky's bill will receive its first Capitol hearing in the Governmental Efficiency Committee on March 4.

Grunsky, Chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, said many representatives of private and public agencies in Monterey and Santa Cruz Counties will be attending the hearing. E.W. DeMars, Monterey County Planning Director and Louis B. Muhly, Santa Cruz County Planning Director, will represent their respective counties.

LOTTIE, the "painted lady from the corner pub", played by Judy Kay Dawson, and Alderman Helliwell (Al Olinger), are shocked to hear Mrs. Helliwell (Betty Hughes) announce that she is turning over to Lottie all the household accounts and her house keys and is "going back to mother". This is a wildly funny scene from J.B. Priestley's farce comedy, "When We Are Married", now playing weekends at the Circle Theatre, Carmel, as a presentation of the Community Theatre of the Monterey Peninsula.

Carmel Cabaret presented by CHS students

BY TERRI JASEAU

On March seventh and eighth, the Carmel High School Music Department will present the second annual Carmel Cabaret in the gymnasium at 8 o'clock. This year the theme will be the South Seas with Master of Ceremonies, Gary Cohn.

This year Cabaret will be presented two nights instead of one night as last year. Pizza and coke will again be sold during the performances.

"Cabaret was started as a pops concert and variety show and was then given the name Carmel Cabaret," said Henry Avila, head of the Carmel High Music Department.

Chris Parga and Dick Peden will be featured as will the school stage band.

Mr. Avila went on to say that a special word of thanks should be given to the Band Parents for help in putting on Cabaret and to the Carmel High Art department and Bill Stone for their help in decorating the gym.

A portable television set will be the first place door prize this year. Other prizes will include gift certificates from Carmel merchants.

Tickets are $1.00 each and anyone wishing to purchase tickets and make table reservations, contact Mrs. George Walker, 624-2037 and Mrs. Tor Spindler, 624-6109 in Carmel, or Mrs. Robert Beckstrom, 659-4323 in Carmel Valley.

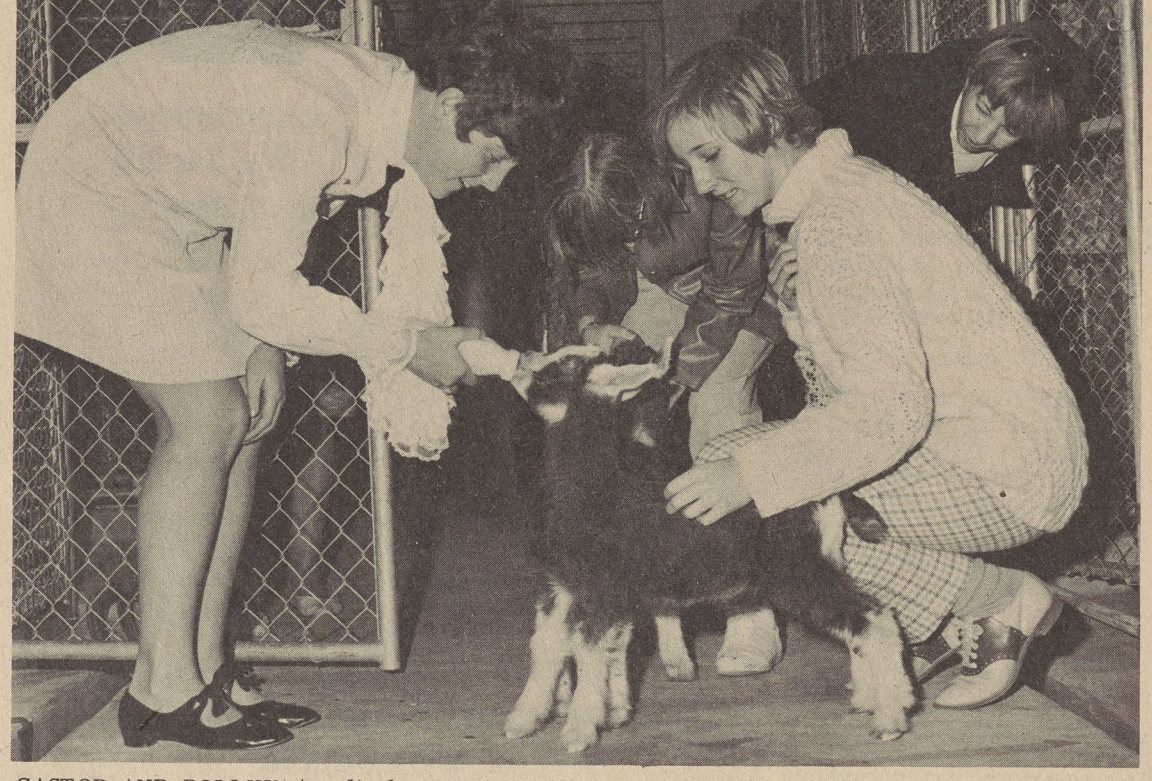
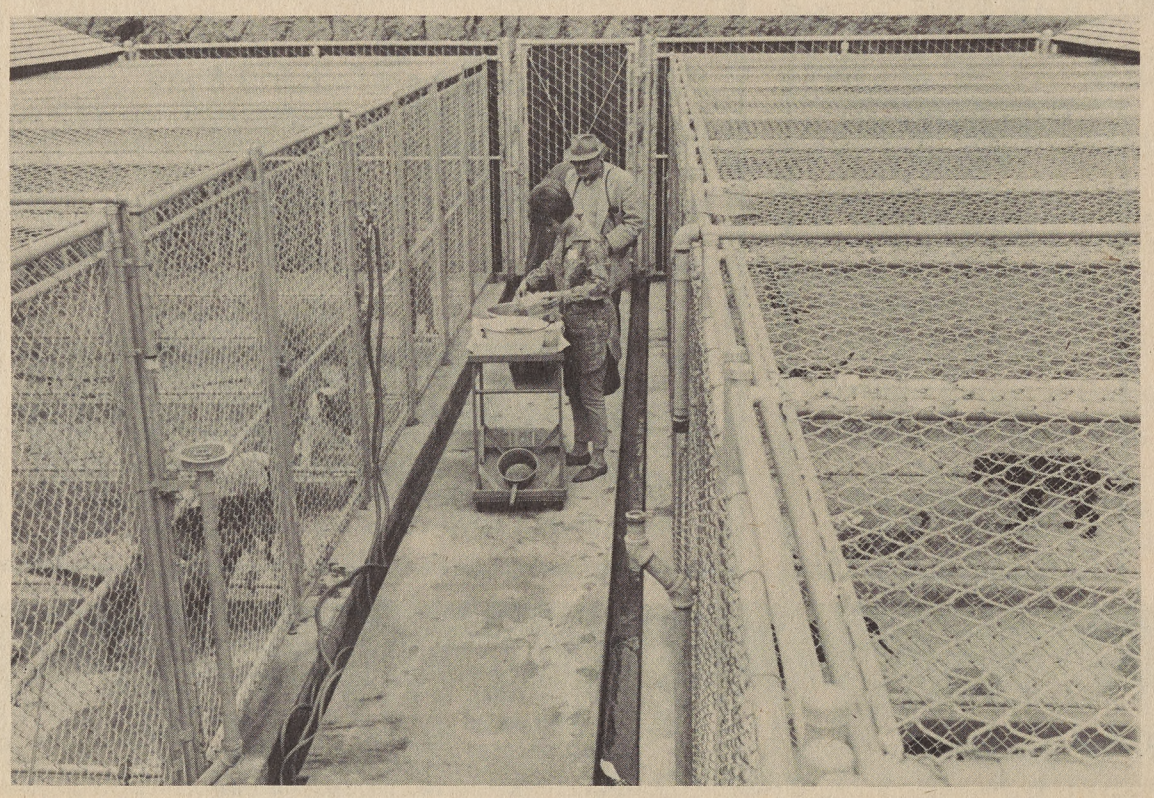
Pets for adoption feature La Vega Verde opening



CASTOR AND POLLUX, two lively mascots, at the new shelter are being given their bottles by Cindy Davis and Christie Klump.

DR. WILLIAM CRAWFORD, president of the board of directors is shown talking to Mrs. Thurman Bane and Dr. Irene Palmer.

LEAVING THE SPCA shelter is Harper Brown with wife Eve Tartar Brown, of Robles Del Rio.



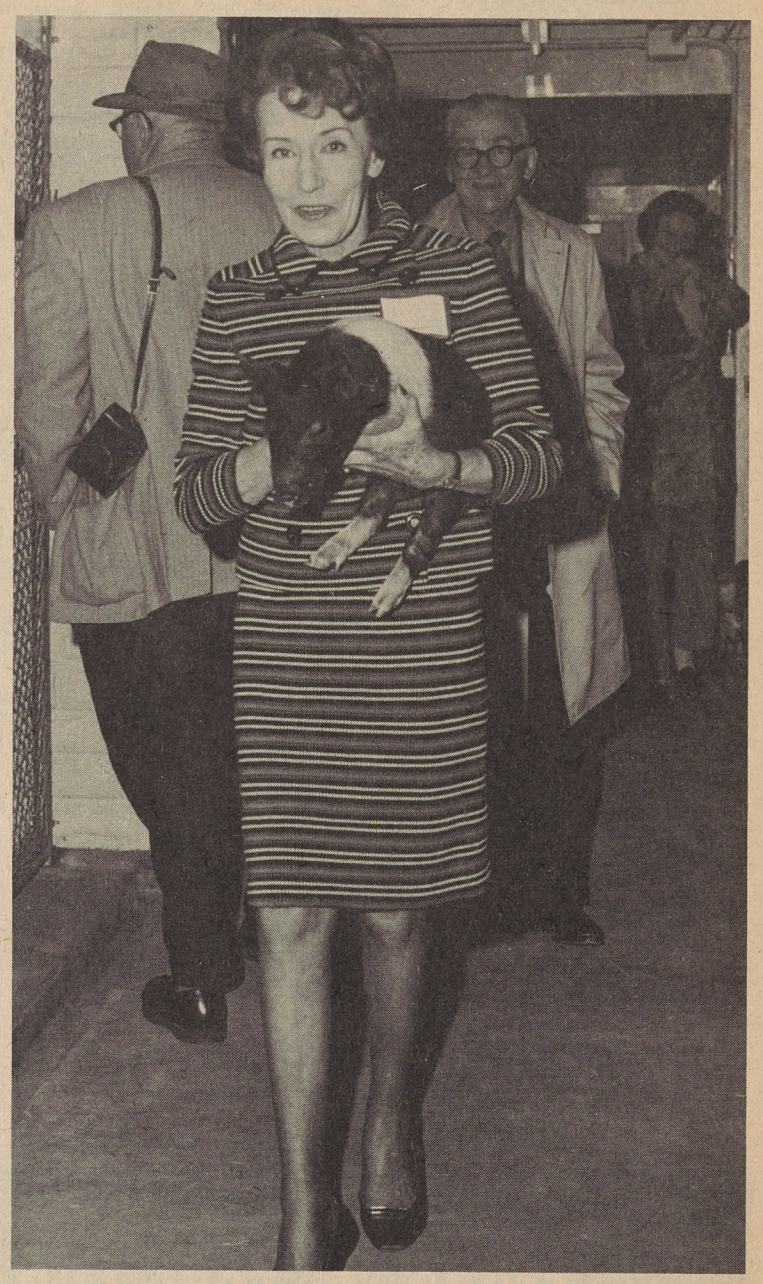
DINNER TIME with Cynthia McArthur serving from the cart.

AMONG THE ANIMALS SHE loves to take care of is Marge O'Neil who serves as an assistant at the Center.

A large crowd attended the opening of the new shelter of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals last week at La Vega Verde located on the Monterey-Salinas Highway.

Outstanding attractions were the two tiny piglets that ran loose, and the two young goats, Castor and Pollux. One of the mascots, a beautiful Siamese cat made herself comfortable in the in-basket.

Very modern and up-to-date, the pens were spic-and-span and held well groomed animals awaiting adoption.



VERY MUCH AT HOME is this little pig that scurried around under foot at the SPCA open house. He is held by Claude, Countess of Kinnoull, who donated part of the 27-acre preserve outright and made the balance available on lease.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

M.P.V.S.

At the regular meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services on Friday, March 7th, at 10 a.m. in the U.S.O., Monterey, the chairman of the Spring Garden Tour, Mrs. William F. Pratt, will announce the definite date of the Tour, and outline her committees preparing for the annual event—this year as in former years, for the benefit of the Visiting Nurses Association.

The M.P.V.S. Thrift Shop on Broadway, Seaside, is accepting merchandise brought in by members of the Children's Home Society, which is to receive the net proceeds of the shop sales for the first two weeks in March. A wide variety of children's clothing and household items, as well as the usual assortment of clothing for men and women, will be on display.

Sierra Club

A hike to Skinner Creek Camp is scheduled this Saturday for the Sierra Club when they meet at 8 a.m. at Carmel Rancho Shopping Center.

The hike, led by Tony Zufich, has been re-routed and re-scheduled from Jan. 30. A fairly strenuous hike of about 11 miles with more than 2,000 elevation, the hike will follow the Skinner Ridge trail to the Turner Creek trail junction. It follows the original homesteader's trail down to Skinner Creek and the Comings cabin. Return is via Devil's Peak with option of going out along Rocky Creek by car shuttle.

Participants must bring lunch and water.

Fashion Show to be held Tuesday

A fashion show and luncheon, sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Symphony Guild, will be given on Tuesday, March 11, at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club.

Fifteen models will display the Spring collection of I. Magnins. Following the luncheon and throughout the affair, prizes will be given. Generous merchants and friends, supporters of the Symphony Guild, have donated many prizes, such as dinner for two at the Del Monte Lodge, a silver tray, gift of Holmans, a Beth McNaughton oil painting, just to mention three.

Reservations may be telephoned to Mrs. James Moore at 624-1183.

Community Chapel Guild

A program with special Lenten appeal will be presented to the Guild members and guests next Wednesday, March 12th at 12:15 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of the Community Chapel.

The narration and color slides presented by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bolgard of La Rancheria starts in Byblos in Lebanon, through the Holy Lands of Israel and Jordan, to the rull rushes of the Nile.

A luncheon of Chinese foods is being planned by the committee of Mrs. Stella Miller, Mrs. Donald Waylett, Mrs. Frances Williams and Mrs. Don Johnson as chairman.

THE TOWN CRIER

By Rosemary Clifford

ANOTHER WEEK, AND ANOTHER STORM has rolled and cracked up the Valley, splashing water on the already rain drenched earth. Cottonwoods and sycamores on the river's bank are toppling, while on the Valley's slopes pines, oaks and cypress are turning over in the slick clay mud.

ARBOR DAY is Friday and reason enough to begin again – plant a tree in observance of the traditional California ceremony of Luther Burbank's birthday.

A WAVE OF SYMPATHY blossomed in this rural area for the owner of Azcum, the colt, when Highlanders expressed heated opposition to actress Kim Novak's request to build a summer corral for her pet. Her stock rose considerably when most animal lovers could not agree that "foul odors and flies" could cause such damage on almost two acres of space.

TO THE EDITOR

Gentlemen:

Final figures will not be available for several days, but preliminary reports indicate the Central Mission Trails Heart Association 1969 Heart Fund Campaign was a gratifying success.

In large measure your outstanding cooperation with our campaign efforts was responsible for this achievement. Without your assistance in keeping the public informed of campaign activities the work of our many volunteers would have been much more difficult – or impossible.

In recent months we have heard many attacks on the news media generally as being interested only in the sensational. I can testify personally that, at least as far as the Tri-County is concerned, those charges are themselves unjustified and irresponsible.

You have not only my personal appreciation and the official thanks of the Central Mission Trails Heart Association, but the gratitude of the many local actual or potential sufferers of heart disease whose distress will be alleviated by the association's programs of research, education and community service – programs which funds collected with your assistance will support.

I trust we can look forward to your continued cooperation in the months ahead as a vital participating part in our program of public education on matters of heart disease prevention and treatment.

Again, many thanks for your assistance and your ready recognition of the vital role the association plays in Tri-County health services.

Sincerely,
Robert G. Van Horne, M.D.
President

Workshops held spring, summer

Reservations are now being taken for three different Workshops sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art to be held during the Spring and Summer, according to Mrs. Mary Jane Spence, director.

The first will be taught by Raymond Brose of Palo Alto and the San Jose State College faculty who will give traditional instruction in "The Techniques of Oil Painting" in four morning sessions from March 31 through April 3.

The second series will have inter-nationally-known Alexander Nepote as instructor, and will be given from June 2 through 5. This contemporary series will feature Acrylics and Collage and will stress form and composition by this master-painter, to whose works the word "Monumental" is most often applied.

Third of the presently-scheduled sessions will offer instruction by George De Groat of Southern California, who has taught many classes in this area. By the popular request of his large local following, he will return this August to give classes in modern techniques, media, and styles. Exact dates will be announced later.

These Workshops are open to all painters, from beginners through advanded, with the only limitation being the size of the classes. Advance reservations are required for each, and all who are interested are urged to register as soon as possible by calling the Museum, 624-2918.

All classes will be held in the Sunset Center cafeteria from 9 a.m. to noon on the scheduled days, and the fee for each series will be $25.00 for members of the Monterey Peninsula Museum Association and $30.00 for non-members.

Area artists are also reminded that the Museum sponsors a Life Workshop each Wednesday at the Sunset Center cafeteria beginning at 9:30 a.m. No instruction is provided at these sessions, but both professionals and amateurs are invited to come and work in their choice of media. Model fees are divided among those present.
